HOWLING SUCCESS. Miss Parrent Scored A Big Hit As Dramatic Coach.

As we predicted, the curtain at Holland's Opera House Thursday evening went up on a large and enthusiastic audience. The play moved with professional ease, each and every character living for the time, the role assumed. Where all did so well, it is hard to designate separately, but "Launcelot Gobbo"—taken by Mr. Edwin Burnley—was evidently the favorite of the crowd. "Miss Three Dice" by Miss Parlee Davis; was such a natural school marm, many were asking which one of McLean's Faculty she represented. Miss Parrent's coaching was really professional. She is an artist in every branch of her art. We understand the play has already been asked for by adjacent towns. We promise a rare treat for them, for "Merchant of Venice up-to-date" is in the hands of "up-to-date" young folks.

MURDER CASE IS TAKEN UP

Trial of Tom Slaughter, Who Killed Lee Jenkins, at Edgotten, In Progress.

JURY COMPLETED YESTERDAY

The Court Called Upon to Appoint Attorneys For The Defense.

The murder case of Tom Slaughter, the negro who killed Lee Jenkins, a white merchant at Edgotten, was called for trial Thursday and the jury was made up yesterday morning as follows:

John Cannon, L. R. Yancey, W. T. Renshaw, Willie Walker, C. W. White and T. M. Yancey from the regular panel and E. F. Morris, E. E. Quisenberry, J. E. Boulden, J. P. Martin, Albert Kelly and A. E. Word from bystanders.

Trial was entered into, Slaughter being represented by Linton & Clark, by appointment.

Slaughter is a negro about 25 years of age, black, beardless and rather small. After he shot Jenkins in his store he escaped and while being pursued by the dead man's friend, fell with a pistol in his hand and was accidentally or with suicidal intent shot in the throat and fell apparently dead. His pursuer left him believing he was dead, but he subsequently revived and was taken charge of by some parties over the Tennessee line. He was brought back here from Clarksville. He has recovered from his wound, which he says was not made with suicidal intent. Slaughter has a bad reputation. Two negroes were waited upon about a month ago by a body of men who whipped Will Davie and ran the other one out of the state, as he escaped from his captors before he was whipped. These negroes were interesting themselves for Slaughter. The grand jury investigated the whipping of Davie but took no action.

Dr. Rallow, who attended Jenkins, said he heard Jenkins' last statement. He died 30 minutes after being shot. J. H. Clardy also heard it. He was not drinking.

J. H. Clardy said that he reached Jenkins immediately and found him shot twice, in the bowels and groin. Saw Slaughter running. Jenkins said trouble came up over 10 cents worth of cheese. Reduced his statement to writing. Jenkins slapped at Slaughter, when he called him a damn liar, but did not hit him. Slaughter then shot.

Henry Jenkins, his brother, also heard dying statement.

Stark Leavell, a negro boy who was with Slaughter, said he heard Slaughter curse Mr. Jenkins. Had his hand on his pistol when Mr. Jenkins struck at him. Jenkins fell forward when first shot and Slaughter pushed him back and shot him twice more. Oscar Jenkins said Slaughter ran south, turned and shot at him when followed. Chas. York and Douglas Nicholls heard shots. Nicholls pursued and overtook Slaughter 1½ miles. Said he would not be arrested and shot himself. N. had no weapon except a shotgun. Left him on ground thinking him dead.

DROPS BOMBS ON ARABS.

Ten Killed By Missiles From Italian Airmen.

Benghazi, Tripoli, March 18.—
Bombs dropped from an aeroplane belonging to the Italian expeditionary force killed ten Arabs in a Turkish camp some distance from this city.

The aeroplane, driven by an army airman and carrying an officer as passenger left the Italian camp early in the morning and flew at a considerable altitude into the desert where a strong Turkish and Arab encampment was found in a well-sheltered position.

Before the aeroplane was noticed by the enemy the Italian officer had made valuable observations. Then some of the Arabs opened fire, to which the aeronauts replied by dropping several bombs with deadly accuracy, which exploded in the midst of a group of Arabs. Ten men fell dead and several others were wounded. The aeroplane then returned to the Italian camp.

THOUGHT HE WAS HUNTING

Onlooker's Idea of New Process Not Altogether Complimentary to the Man in the Chair.

Frederick Glahe of Chicago, the originator of the free lunch, was once talking to a reporter about new ideas. "They are always misunderstood," he said. "They are always suspected. Even my free lunch was suspected at first. Because it consisted of ham sandwiches in the main people said it was just a dodge to make them thirsty and increase the beer sales. However, in the end the free lunch brought me wealth."

"But new ideas are always misunderstood. Take hair singeing, for example. I was sitting in a barber shop one afternoon at the time when hair singeing first came out, and a middle-aged chap with a thin, sparse thatch was having a singe at the hands of the head barber. Two laboring men sat and watched the singe for a while with awed eyes. The burning taper passed to and fro across the thin, scant crop of hair, and the laboring men couldn't understand it at all. But finally one of them brightened up and, putting his big, rough hand to the side of his mouth, he whispered to his companion hoarsely:

"He's lookin' for them with a light."

TOOK THE OFFICER LITERALLY

Action of Friendly Moro, Well Meant, Put Commander in Embarrassing Position.

The announcement that some 300 Moros in the island of Mindanao have surrendered their rifles to the United States troops, for whom they have caused a vast amount of trouble in the last year, recalls a curious story.

While a gallant officer of the army, now retired, was stationed in Mindanao several years ago with the regiment of which he had command, he and his forces were constantly annoyed by lawless Moros, who ambushed and murdered several soldiers and committed many robberies and other crimes. The leader of this particular band was a murderous wretch, and in speaking of him one day to several subordinates the commanding officer remarked that he wished he had the fellow's head in a bag.

Three or four days later, while the officer was seated in front of his tent, a friendly Moro employed at the post approached and dumped a gunny bag on the ground. Then he ripped it open and something rolled out. The officer's wish had been fulfilled. His expression had been taken literally by the friendly native.

MILLION GALLONS OF WINE.

"A million gallons of sweet wines, mostly port wine, is the vintage of the Vina vineyard for the season of 1911. This is the largest output of the winery in the many years of its existence," says the American Wine Press in a recent issue. "This fertile vineyard, the property of Stanford university, comprising 3,500 acres of the best land in the Sacramento valley, is located on the Sacramento river and Deer creek, six miles from Corning, Cal.

"The large amount of money earned from the grapes and wines produced at the Stanford vineyard goes to support the Leland Stanford, Jr., university at Palo Alto, and yet there is a strict rule, made by the president of the University, prohibiting the sale and use of wine within one mile of the university."

HE'D SETTLE ONCE FOR ALL.

One of the stories of Representative John A. Moon of Tennessee is of a rather illiterate candidate for the Tennessee legislature. When he was addressing a political meeting a man called out in a loud voice an inquiry about his position on the tariff.

For several minutes the speaker continued and did not appear to hear the question. Finally, however, others in the audience took up the query and became so insistent that he was compelled to answer.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said the speaker, "you have asked me my stand on the tariff question. I am decided. I am in favor of paying the thing off and having it out of the way."

FORTUNATE.

"Did that aviator friend of yours have a successful season?"

"Very. He more than made enough to pay all his hospital expenses."

When to Relax.

Dr. Eugenia Hancock of New York says a woman should "positively relax during the noon hour." With the children demanding lunch, the telephone ringing, the grocery boy at the back door and an Armenian-lace peddler at the front, not to mention the neighbor running in to borrow the lawn mower, this is very easy, of course.

FORBEARANCE OF PERICLES.

Once, after being reviled and ill spoken of all day long in his own hearing by some vile and abandoned fellow in the open market place, where he was engaged in the dispatch of some urgent affair, he continued his business in perfect silence and in the evening returned home composedly, the man still dogging him at the heels and pelting him all the way with abuse and foul language; and stepping into his house, it being by this time dark, he ordered one of his servants to take a light and to go along with the man and see him safe home.—Plutarch.

HEALTH-DEFYING DIET.

Pickles and condiments, mince pies and pastry, these are staples at the luncheon places frequented by women. There is nothing so foolish as to see the ordinary woman order a meal for herself alone, masterfully asserts McCall's Magazine, and it is a blessing that most of them have husbands and sons to cater to. Otherwise, as a nation, we should have an even worse reputation for dyspepsia than we have already acquired.

HICCUGHED FOR FIVE YEARS.

William Jennings, aged eighty-six, the father-in-law of ex-Mayor John Weaver of Philadelphia, has suffered from hiccoughs for five years past, and declares that it is impossible to cure them. They must go away of their own accord, he says. When his attack started he was compelled to give up business, and the paroxysms have pulled him down from a robust being to a thin, frail, old man.

"Oh! You Kid."

When the average boy insists on a spotless collar every day one may be sure that he is leaving his childhood behind and that the responsibilities of life have begun.

Forty miners are known to be dead, forty-seven others are entombed and thirteen escaped from a mine thirty-seven miles from Fort Smith, Ark., in which an explosion occurred Wednesday. Little hope is held out that any of the entombed men are alive.

Sam Sansbury, city prosecutor of Owensboro, who some time ago was caught in a gambling raid and fined and subsequently given another "chance" by the council, is down and out. This time he was arraigned for drunkenness and had the good sense to resign.

Gov. McCreary is being asked to veto three bills not yet signed. The three bills, which meet with objections, as well as strong support, are the act placing burial associations on the same plane as insurance companies, the act making it optional with the Fiscal Court of any county to order the tuberculin test for dairy cattle, and the act creating a new judgeship in Campbell county. He expects to pass on all of them by today, which is the last day he can disapprove bills.

The Congressional situation is not yet settled in the First district. Robbins, of Graves, and Barkley of McCracken, are announced. Capt. Stone and Hml Corbett have decided to stay out. Jake Corbett, Newton Utley, John Grayot and Denny Smith are all probabilities. The fact that the Republicans have called a convention may keep the new primary law from applying in the district.

Will Rebuild Elks' Home.
Madisonville, Ky., March 20.—Preparations are being made to replace the Elks' home recently destroyed by fire here, and as soon as the loss is adjusted, the contract will be let. The walls of the building were not damaged to any great extent.

Lost No Time.
Richmond, Va., March 22.—After a courtship covering a period of five days, Thomas J. Andrews of Roanoke, a farmer and fruit grower, wedded Miss Matilda L. Kohl of Henderson, Ky. The ceremony was performed at Lynchburg by Dr. J. D. Paxton of the Presbyterian church at the home of Mrs. G. W. Hancock, where the bride was on a brief trip. They will live in Roanoke. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Kohl of Henderson.

Beer Blew Up.
Louisville, Ky., March 20.—Fire apparatus raced through the streets, alarm bells rang, whistles were tied down, and New Albanians were thrown into a state of panic by the explosion of a keg of bock beer in a New Albany brewery today. The keg exploded deep down among others. The factory engineer, terror-stricken, ran to his whistle and pulled the cord and tied it down. The fireman of a glue factory nearby, hearing the signal of distress, did likewise. A general alarm of fire was sounded, and many engines responded.

Suspended for Drinking.
Mayor Meacham Wednesday issued an order suspending officer R. M. Arnold for sixteen days for violating Rule 5 of the Rules governing the Police Department, prohibiting officers from drinking intoxicating liquors while on duty. This is the first case of discipline found necessary for this cause for the last four years. Officer Arnold is a new man on the force, having served less than three months. A recommendation for removal will be made to the council April 5.

GIVENS—KIRKWOOD.

Miss Elizabeth Givens and Mr. George Kirkwood, both of Madisonville, were quietly united in marriage in Louisville Wednesday. After a short bridal trip they will return to their home in the Hopkins capital.

Miss Givens is the daughter of Judge C. C. Givens, owner of the Madisonville Hustler and the Henderson Gleaner, and one of the best known politicians in the second district. Miss Givens has been attending the State Normal School in Bowling Green for the past term. Her fiancé persuaded her, however, that it was her sphere to preside over one household rather than over the destinies of a school. Hence she left quietly this morning and joined Mr. Kirkwood in Louisville, where a quiet wedding was consummated. Mr. Kirkwood is a druggist and is associated with his father in the business at Madisonville. —Bowling Green Messenger.

VETOES

Governor Gives His Reasons For Using Axe.

In vetoing the anti-tipping bill Gov. McCreary said:

"It does not seem to me to be in accord with the intelligence and freedom of the present time to arrest a man or woman and fine them for the so-called offense of rewarding or giving to an agreeable helper, a polite attendant or obliging waiter. No person is ever required by law to offer or give 'tips' or to accept 'tips.' Every person is free and independent and may give and accept. I see no good reason for the passage of a law interfering with the personal freedom which has been enjoyed for so many years."

This is the second time this measure has been vetoed after getting by the Legislature. Gov. Wilson disapproved an identical bill two years ago.

No Dog Tax Law Amendment.

The Governor also vetoed House bill 241, which amends the present dog tax law by seeking to repeal section 68, Kentucky statutes. The veto message says in part:

"If this statute is repealed no person will have a right to kill or cause to be killed any dog which may be or may have been found killing, wronging or injuring any cattle outside of the inclosure of the owner of the dog, or any dogs having the rabies, or that there is reasonable ground to believe has such a disease and no recovery could be had for other acts committed as set forth in this section sought to be repealed. The bill is therefore disapproved by me."

Nothing for Colored School.

He also disapproved the Eaton Senate bill, No. 295, appropriating $10,000 to the West Kentucky Industrial College for Colored People and $2,500 annually to maintain it. The Governor says it is not a State institution, the State does not appoint the superintendent or managers, and it makes no report to the State. He says there are number of educational institutions that are as much entitled to State aid as this.

Dawson, Ky., March 20.—While supplanting the digging of a grave for his mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Castleberry, near Dawson Springs, Jim Phelps was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Elwood Noel on the charge of bootlegging. Phelps was taken to Hopkinsville, where he executed bond and was released. Mrs. Castleberry had died the day before, and the deputy marshal allowed the accused man to attend the funeral before starting the trip to Hopkinsville.

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY

Tells How She Keeps Her Health—Happiness For Those Who Take Her Advice.

Scottville, Mich. "I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to your wonderful medicine."

—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R. F. D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for women's ills known.

Disgrace Too Much.

New York, March 22.—Because she was detected by government authorities in the crime of smuggling, Mrs. Edwin Carson, widow of a prominent San Francisco physician, hanged herself out of a window at the Botsell Hotel here Thursday morning. Her son on the street saw her dangling from the end of the rope, and notified the hotel authorities, who hauled her in, but too late to save her life.

Gov. McCreary's veto of the anti-tipping bill is greatly regretted.

SPRING OPENING WEDNESDAY MARCH 27TH

What to do? What to wear? What to read? What to eat? A woman's work is a Series of questions, says the Woman's Home Companion. But think what it means to gather together five hundred Pattern Hats, to suit five hundred different, discriminating, style loving women—every one bent on having a hat entirely different from any hat she has ever seen before. That's our job, and we naturally love our work. How well we do it,—what it means to have in one assembly five hundred different models—We ask you to come Wednesday, March 27th, and see. Come and bring your friends, we will not urge you to buy but your presence is requested to view our display of Millinery, Ready-to-wear Garments, Dry Goods and Shoes.

Anderson's

"SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK"

MAGAZINES

The April American Magazine contains a very remarkable character study of the late Joseph Pulitzer, the blind proprietor of the New York World, who recently died, leaving a fortune of twenty or twenty-five million dollars. The article is by one of Mr. Pulitzer's secretaries and is accompanied by several unpublished photographs taken on the yacht "Liberty," where for years and years Mr. Pulitzer lived and worked most of the time, assisted by a corps of readers and secretaries whose combined intellectual vigor and capacity scarcely matched that of their chief, who has been called "the most amazing creature in the world." It would take a Robert Louis Stevenson to imagine such a yacht and such a crew as Alleyne Ireland, the author of this remarkable article, describes. In the same issue of The American Senator LaFollette continues his autobiography, and Ida M. Tarbell writes of "The Homeless Daughter."

Woman's Home Companion.

Kathleen Norris, who became famous as the author of "Mother," begins a new serial novel in the April Woman's Home Companion. It is a love story laid in California. Other fiction is contributed by Mary Stewart Cutting, Carolyn Wells, Mary E. Wilkins Freeman and Mary Hastings Bradley.

Among articles of note in the April Companion are the following: An autobiographical chapter by Howard Pyle, the great American artist; an account full of personal details of the life of Germany's present Crown Princess Cecelie, who is twenty-five years old and the mother of four children; "Making the Most of Moving Pictures," an account of the moving-picture business as an educational factor; "Getting Rid of the House Fly," "Good Health—a Business Asset," in which the author gives much practical advice, particularly to women, who work in business for a living; and an Easter talk by the pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle in New York City.

The regular household, fashion and home decoration departments are filled with new, interesting facts and suggestions.

For April, 1915, Lippincott's Magazine offers a dainty list of contents adapted to the exacting appetite of the spring. The complete novel is a cheerful, diverting and delightful story, called "The Stolen Woman," by Eleanor M. Ingram, whose previous novels, "Stanton Wine," "From the Car Behind," and "The Substitute," were widely read and universally praised. Her theme this time is the calm way in which the hero demonstrates that he is the master not only of his own fate but of several other people's as well. The mere fact that the girl he falls in love with is about to be married to another man deters him not a whit; he simply resorts to the primitive way of securing a bride by carrying her off willy-nilly. As it happens, the girl has a will of her own, and there are some interesting complications before the clever denouement is reached. There's a seasonable outdoor flavor all through, motor-car and motor-boat, not to mention a steam yacht, all having a part in the narrative. The hero is brave and manly, as heroes should be, and the heroine is sweet and womanly, as heroines should be, while the other characters leave just as little to be desired. It's a good, lively story—"The Stolen Woman."

Besides the complete novel, the April Lippincott's gives a sheaf of short stories, including "The Crucial Moment," by Charles Egbert Caddock; "Her Own Country," by Elsie Singmaster; "Kings and Men," by Owen Oliver; "Lady's Choice," by Carl H. Grabo; "A Scion of Adam," by Ella Middleton Tybout; and "The Beautifying of Mrs. Bennett," by Harold Susman.

The Dog Hill Preacher requests us to announce in his behalf that all who intend to hear him preach next Sunday morning must walk across the fields to keep out of the mud. Tabe Mosely's attention is especially directed to this, as he has been in the habit of breaking up the sermon every Sunday by waiting until he gets inside the church before he begins to stomp the mud off his feet.

Prof. Sap Spradlen will deliver an address on the South Pole at the Wild Onion school house next Saturday night. He will give a full description of it, using the black board to illustrate just how tall it is and how it looks.

Bat Smith, congenial and accommodating proprietor of the moonshine still on Musket Ridge, has announced to his many customers and friends that hereafter he will keep the front door of his place locked on Sunday, to comply with the request of the Deputy Constable. For the convenience of his patrons; however, he will turn the rear end of the building around facing the front on Sundays.

The Mail Carrier has a fully developed case of the smallpox, and upon his arrival in Hogwallow yesterday a good size crowd gathered at the postoffice to extend him their sympathy. This is the first case of this disease ever seen around here and the Mail Carrier is rapidly springing into prominence.

Things are expected to get active around here as soon as the snakes and fleas begin to arrive again.

A rabbit was treed under the postoffice Thursday morning and a good portion of the stock and fixtures had to be removed before the building could be raised high enough for Dock Hocks to crawl under.

The Excelsior Fiddling Band is reported to have made some lovely music while out serenading the other night, but the wind blew it away as fast as it was rendered.

TICKLED BY TAFT

Begins Kissing Campaign On a Boston Juvenile.

Boston Mass., March 21.—How does it feel to be kissed by a President?

Mary Irene Barter, demure, pretty, and 11 years old, can tell you all about it, for President Taft gave her his first campaign kiss in Boston. It happened in the City Club, where Mary and her sister had gone with her papa, Attorney William H. Barter, to see the President. Mary said: "I was standing with my sister in the vestibule of the City Club when the President came out. He looked at me and then shook my hand, which was the second time he had done so this morning. He was laughing all the time, and then, all of a sudden, he picked me up. I didn't know what he was going to do, and I was a little bit afraid. My face was red. I think, anyway. It was all over in a minute."

"I tried to get away a little and bent my head. Then President Taft kissed me on my face near my ear. 'Snack!' I heard it go, and I felt funny, being kissed before all those people. His whiskers tickled my face. It was a kiss like papa gives me, only papa has no whiskers. It didn't feel different from other kisses I have had, except it was before all those people."

BASEBALL CLUB SUED.

Clarksville Bank Asks Judgment of Nashville Team Owners.

A bill has been filed in the chancery court by the Northern Bank of Tennessee, located in Clarksville, against the Nashville baseball club and its stockholders. It is alleged that during last year the local club owners conceived the project of organizing and operating a baseball club at Clarksville and that they opened an account with the complaint bank under the name of the Clarksville baseball club. It is alleged that the defendant club is overdrawn in the bank to the amount of $1,538.19, and a judgment is sought for the amount. It is alleged that the Clarksville club was merely a dummy for the local club and had no separate existence.

MAKES MARBLE FROM A'SHES

But a German Engineer Will Not Divulge His Secret, Despite Offered Inducements.

All the world knows that ashes are the last solid residue of combustion and comprise the essence of earthly materials, mineral salts, potash, soda, phosphates, etc. The use to which ashes may be put have not been supposed various; they serve in the preparation of certain lyes, sometimes to improve the character of the soil, under certain conditions in the manufacture of brick, always with a view to furnishing some desired chemical property; but these applications of ashes are always secondary.

Recently a German engineer has invented a way to transform ashes into marble of exceptional beauty which is susceptible to the highest polish. He refuses to divulge his secret, though large inducements have been made to him by owners of marble quarries. It is a matter of chemical synthesis, of course, but it is said that his only visible apparatus is a small gas stove, together with a kettle and what resembles a copying press. With these implements, plus the secret he holds, he has manufactured a medium sized slab of marble in half an hour.—Harper's Weekly.

DANISH CURE FOR LAZINESS

Men Overfond of Rest Are Given So Much of It That It Becomes Monotonous.

The Danish government under the direction of Professor Kellers, a psychologist, is making an experiment in out-of-door treatment of its mental defectives on Tyloe island. Both lunatics and loafers came under the head of "defectives" in Denmark.
Professor Kellers has for some time been a persistent advocate of the out-of-door treatment of lunacy. His chief contention is that the fresh air tones up the nervous system, while the varied natural objects are calculated to arrest the attention of the patients and dissipate the more distressing symptoms of monomania.

The method of "cure" of confirmed laziness in Denmark is somewhat Spartan. Either the men must settle down to regular habits of work, chiefly of a rural character, or the "rest cure" is pushed home to its logical result—they are forced to lie in bed for a term varying from a day to three or four days. By that time the ennui becomes simply unbearable and the men are glad to escape from the torture of sheer inactivity.

THE CHASE.

We are chased down the alley for four dining room chairs belonging to a neighbor.

We are chased up the alley for two small tables belonging to another neighbor.

We are chased across the street at night for twelve dinner plates and six cups and saucers belonging to a neighbor.

We are chased down the street for twelve silver teaspoons and a cut glass bowl.

We are chased around the corner to a neighbor's for a street car conductor's punch.

We are chased half a mile for a friend's book of salad recipes.

Then we are chased out of the house altogether. She is going to entertain her card club.—Detroit Free Press.

SECOND-HAND.

"Did you build this house for yourself?"

"No, I bought it from a man who found after he had built it that it was a little too expensive for him."

"I see you have a new automobile."

"It isn't exactly new. I bought it from a chap who found after he had run it for a month that he couldn't afford to keep it."

"That's a fine piano you have there. Just new, isn't it?"

"Not exactly. I got it at a bargain from a friend of mine who was compelled to move to another city a few months after he had bought it."

"Um. Was your wife ever married before you got her?"

Might Be Dead Today

Garden City, Kas.—In a letter from Mrs. James Hamner, of this city, she says: "I firmly believe that I would not be alive today, if it were not for Cardui. I had been a sufferer from womanly troubles all my life, until I found that great remedy. I feel that I can't praise it too highly." Are you a woman, suffering from some of the troubles, to which a woman is peculiarly liable? If so, why not try Cardui, the woman's tonic? You can rely on Cardui. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and acts gently but surely, without bad after-effects. 'Twill help you. Ask your druggist.

Little Bald Head

By

A. MARIA CRAWFORD

(Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.)

"When a man loves a woman as well as I love you, and when you admit that you love me but refuse to marry me, I believe that I am justified in wanting to know exactly why."

They were having late supper at a table in an alcove in a large restaurant. The gold tassel at the side of her little theater cap swayed slightly as she leaned her head over, staring at the white cloth with its mound of yellow roses.

"Look at me, Helen! It's high time that we threshed this thing out," continued John Haldon quietly.

Helen Rayner's face flushed painfully. "I—I wish you wouldn't discuss such personal things—here."

"Nobody is listening to us. Dean Sherwood is grinning his usual 'She'll never have you, my boy,' and I am not willing to submit to expressive public speculation any more. You'll either have to take me now or chuck me over for good. I won't hang fire another day."

"Mercy, John! You astonish me. You are so dramatic. Be pleasant and let's enjoy this excellent supper."

"Helen, I have put a plain question to you. I can't force you to answer, but I ask you to for the last time. You can't play with me and my love for you another day."

Her eyes met his for a fleeting second and she saw a stern look on his face that forbade further bantering.

"What is it you want to know, John?"

"Do you still admit that you love me?"

"Yes. You must know that I do."

"Then why aren't you willing to marry me? I can offer you all that your father is able to give you."

"I am not ready to settle down. I want to have a good time. When a girl is not yet twenty-two she doesn't want to give up all her fun."

"Granted, but why give it up? Is it because you want other men around?"

"No. As it is, I go practically everywhere with you now."

"Helen, it's because of Tom Grayner. You want to remain single until after he comes home with your brother in the spring. He has more money than I have. Are you mercenary, after all?"

"If I didn't love you, John Haldon, I would never speak to you again. I'll tell you why I haven't wanted to marry you. You have so many theories, I—I have been afraid I would fail as your wife. Now, that's the truth."

"What do you mean, Helen?"

"You believe in what you call brotherhood and try to help people who are less fortunate than you are. You believe in really doing service for your friends. For instance, when Jim Thornton's trouble came and I remonstrated with you for giving up your time as well as your money to help him, you said, 'Anybody's money can accomplish as much as mine, but nobody can do for that boy as I can, for he loves me and has faith in me. With a little encouragement and help from me, he will soon get on his feet again. He will do whatever I expect of him.' I never forgot those words. They were indicative of your outlook on people in general and on me in particular. I am afraid to fail you."

"I don't expect any help from you, dear."

"That's just it. You think you won't, but if we ever come to marriage, you would be sorry that you had taken a woman who was in no sense your helpmeet. I know, John, I have thought about it a great many times and tried to laugh the fear out of my heart."

"Don't say that, Helen. It's like a whip in my face."

"You expect so much of a woman. Perhaps I am not the woman you want to marry. I am selfish. All my life I've been warm, silk-lined and well fed. I have never thought of anybody's comfort but my own."

"Hereditarily and environment have created that attitude. When the time comes for any service, you will not be lacking either in willingness or in ability. I know you better than you know yourself."

"At any rate, your faith in me is stimulating."

"I love you, Helen. Are you going to put me out of your life tonight for a mere shadowy fear that will prove to have no substance?"

She sat there, toying with a jeweled chain about her throat and looking curiously at some new arrivals.

"Why, John," she said, forgetting his tender love speech and all-important question, "those people must be stopping between trains. I never saw a baby out at this time of the night."

"Possibly not," he answered indifferently.

"Poor little woman! She can't eat with that baby jumping about so. I believe that I will offer to hold it. It will be a good opportunity to try working out your pet theory that a woman is never so happy as when she is serving men or children."

He smiled as she rose and with her characteristic grace and charm asked if she might hold the baby for a little time.

Her tall slender figure in its shimmering white gown, her head bent a little over the laughing baby reaching his dimpled hands for the elusive gold tassel over the girl's ear made a charming picture to the man who waited for them.

"Watch out, Helen, he'll tear that gold lace on your gown!" he warned, but Helen only laughed at him over the little bald head.

"Isn't he dear? Isn't he little and soft and clinging? Am I holding him right so that I won't hurt his back or the soft spot in his head? I remember being warned against injuring those parts of a baby's anatomy."

"Trust a woman to feel those things without any teaching! It's instinctive. You don't have to be taught any more than a mother bird has to be shown how to huddle her sleeping young under her feathery breast."

The baby had worn himself out and now slept in the soft curve of Helen's arm. She drew the little relaxed body close to her.

"He is so helpless," she said softly, and felt what every woman feels at some time in her life, motherhood stirring in her heart.

An obsequious waiter announced that it was one o'clock and the restaurant was closing. Helen gave the baby into the mother's ready arms and answered her effusive thanks with a simple, "It was a pleasure to me. I am the one to thank you."

John Haldon helped her into the long fur coat.

"Is it goodbye forever tonight?" he asked.

"No," she said, her mouth quivering with the joy of her sudden decision, "I can't give you up for any reason or the shadow of a reason."

CAUSE OF UNHAPPINESS.

"Every form of unhappiness springs from a wrong condition of mind. Happiness inheres in right conditions of mind. Happiness is mental harmony; unhappiness is mental inharmonious. While a man lives in wrong conditions of mind, he will live a wrong life, and will suffer continually."—James Allen.

TO BE FORGIVEN.

"Isn't our friend Mr. Orestes Flawter inclined to greatly magnify the importance of little things?"

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne; "but such a course is absolutely essential to his own self-esteem."

For Women Who Care

Of course you use an antiseptic in your family and in the care of your own person, and you want the best.

Instead of what you have been using such as liquid or tablet antiseptics or peroxide, won't you please try Paxtine, a concentrated antiseptic powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

Paxtine is more economical, more cleansing, more germicidal and more healing than anything you ever used.

In the toilet—to cleanse and whiten the teeth, remove tartar and prevent decay. To disinfect the mouth, destroy disease germs, and purify the breath. To keep artificial teeth and bridgework clean and odorless. To remove nicotine from the teeth and purify the breath after smoking. To eradicate perspiration odors by sponge bathing.

As a medicinal agent for local treatment of feminine ills where pelvic catarrh, inflammation and ulceration exist, nothing equals hot douches of Paxtine. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co. has been regularly advising their patients to use it because of its extraordinary cleansing, healing and germicidal power. For this purpose alone Paxtine is worth its weight in gold. Also for nasal catarrh, sore throat, inflamed eyes, cuts and wounds. All druggists, 25 and 40 cents a box. Trial box and testimony of 31 women free on request.

THIS MOTHER A DIPLOMAT

Never Hesitated a Moment With Story to Cover Up Little Son's Disobedience.

"When women get the vote I know at least one who will be eligible to a first-class diplomatic appointment," said a woman who goes into town every day and amuses herself by watching her fellow travelers.

"The woman I have reference to," continued the observant commuter, "stood on the railroad platform at a point where passengers transfer from electric to steam trains on the Long Island railroad. She was accompanied by two little boys, one of whom persisted in walking along the extreme edge of the platform, in imminent danger of falling to the track below. Honeysuckle requests to 'Be careful, dear,' and 'Come back, Charlie,' were met by an impish stare and absolute disobedience. The people who were watching were rent by the fear the boy would come to harm and an overpowering desire to spank him. Finally, when he had just missed falling on the third rail, a man stepped forward and, taking 'Charlie' none too gently by the shoulder, walked him over to his mother."

"Then the mother rose to heights that proclaimed her fitness for the court of St. James. 'Thank you so much for bringing him to me,' she said sweetly. 'He has had a bad cold for two days and it has made him totally deaf. He hasn't heard a word I said.' Every one within hearing distance gasped, and presently the train bore away 'Charlie' and his resourceful mother."—New York Press.

HAD THINGS ALL ARRANGED

Few Little Difficulties in the Apartment Building, but Algernon Was "on the Job."

Mrs. Topfloo answered the front door bell the other morning, and found Algernon, the elevator boy, standing outside.

"I've come to tell you, Mis' Topfloo," he announced, "dat de plumbers is workin' ovah de pipes, an' is gwine to restruct de hot water symptoms t'ro de whole house, an' dere won't be no hot water today an' mebbe not tomo'ow; an' I 'rise yo', ma'am, to dro' off all de hot water yo' wan's so yo' won't be wifout it t'ro de day. Oh, no, ma'am, dey ain't gwine touch de eol' water, on'y de hot, but ef yo' tink yo' wan's hot water du'in de day, yo' bettah dro' 'nuff now to las' yo'. Yo' ain't got no gas in you gas range? Mis' Rosenberg she ain't got none, neither, an' she didn't have no light 'tall las' night, but de gasses man he at work blowin' up her 'partmen', an' befo' he goes 'way I'll tell him come r-a-i-g-h-t straight up heyah."

NO RHUBARB FOR THEM.

This incident happened at camp, when a corporal, who was making up the rations, was approached by the tent orderly, who suggested a change in the dietary. "We should like to have some rhubarb," he said. "You may have it," replied the corporal, with pencil and paper, then commenced trying to record the order. He began "Ru," hastily abandoning that for "Reu," and then put "Roo" and "Rheu" respectively. Thoroughly exasperated at last, the corporal exclaimed: "Ruhug be blowed! You'll have cabbage."

BAD PRINCIPLE.

"Do you believe in the principle of the recall for judges, Weary?" asked Dusty Hobo, as he and Weary Waggle met en route for warmer climes.

"No, I don't," growled Weary. "De last judge I was up before recalled that I'd been up before him five times before that, and gimme six mon's extra for it."

EASIER JOB.

"An easy job will suit me, senator."

"How about winding the clocks every week?"

"I might make that do. But what's the matter with my tearing the leaves off the calendar every month?"

TOBACCO

Heavy Deliveries And Large Sales Of The Weed This Week.

This week has been a bumper one in tobacco circles, both the deliveries and sales having been very heavy. The weed has been coming in from all over the country, several counties being represented, and the rush to the market has been so great that hands have been working overtime in handling the tobacco. The sales on the loose floor amounted to about 700,000 pounds for the week, which is the largest amount sold on the floor in one week since the first of the year. Prices on all grades were good. Some good leaf brought $13.50. There was no fine leaf offered. The market is steady and firm. It is estimated that about 80 per cent. of the 1911 crop is sold, about 70 per cent. of which has been delivered.

ANOTHER BLUFF

Paducah Club Withdraws and Kentucky Circuit May Not Start Season.

Paducah, Ky., March 22.—Explaining that action was taken because the Fulton Baseball Association had been a troublemaker ever since preparations had been started for the 1912 season, and further that one of the league officers was unsatisfactory, the Phoenix Athletic Club, holder of the Paducah franchise, has withdrawn from the Kentucky-Indiana-Tennessee Baseball League because Fulton has been allowed to retain its membership.

Business Manager Alfred Levy forced the withdrawal to President Frank Bassett Thursday night. The association at Cairo, Ill., it is said, will take a similar action. This action means the death of the Kitty League, as Paducah and Cairo are the largest cities in the league. Fulton is the smallest.

UP TO YOU.

Do You Want Baseball This Season?

Next week about a dozen men will quit business long enough to get up the subscription for the baseball club. The matter is thoroughly understood and they will not take time to explain the proposition.

It simply means this "No money, No ball."

It is a matter of love on their part to get the subscription, they will not get a cent out of it.

If you want to see some ball playing kiss your money good bye and subscribe. Don't subscribe unless you expect to pay, as you will surely be called on for the money. Now, this is not a matter of charity, but surely of pleasure and also profit in the way of an advertisement. What will you do? We will have to have $2,500, or no team.

The Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co., yesterday lodged for record in the county clerk's office a mortgage for $15,000,000 to the Columbia Trust Co. and Frank W. Conn, Trustees. The indenture secures the above amount in 25-year, first-year and general mortgage five per cent gold bonds. This is one of the steps to be taken in the absorption of the Cumberland Company by the New York syndicate which now owns or controls practically all of the telephones in this part of the country.

This city was formerly the home office of the Cumberland. The law requires that mortgages be recorded in each county where a corporation owns property.

This is the largest mortgage ever recorded in Christian county.

Joe Qualls, col., and W.L. Dixon, corroborated other witnesses.

Berry Hammonds and Forest Suter told of finding Slaughter still alive and taking him to Suter's camp and thence to Clarksville. Sheriff H. C. Walker, of Clarksville, and W. D. Elliott also testified to details. Commonwealth closed.

Slaughter took stand at 3 o'clock. He said he went into the store to get cheese and told Mr. J. the piece was not a dime's worth and that J. knocked him down and kicked him. He said while he was running away he fell in getting over a wire fence and a man on horseback rode up and shot him twice.

He was still on the stand at the press hour.

The case will be finished to-day.

Wednesday's Cases.

J. W. Bewley, the young man who was arrested here about the first of the year charged with obtaining money under false pretenses from L. A. Johnson, and lodged in jail was tried Thursday and to the surprise of everybody the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. Bewley's wife sat with him in court. Other similar charges were made against him by Paul Winn, Nick Stadelman and several others, but the grand jury found only one indictment. Sheriff Johnson has warrants from several other towns where Bewley is wanted, and he will probably be surrendered to some one of them. Other indictments may be returned at the June court.

Following the judgment for the defendant in the case of Sam Leever of Clarksville, against the T. C. Railroad Co., Leever was arrested on two charges, drinking liquor on a train and using profane language. The Railroad Company proved these charges as justification for putting him off the train. Leever gave bond for his appearance for trial.

Claud Proctor, charged with grand larceny in stealing some copper wire, entered a plea of guilty and was given a sentence of from one to five years.

Mrs. E. Gray, of Cincinnati, a sister of William Gladstone, arrived here Thursday to interest herself in behalf of the young hold up man who robbed John Griffith, at the point of a pistol. She said Gladstone was his real name and that the family had only learned of his trouble a few days ago and that his mother still knew nothing of it. Gladstone's case was called Thursday afternoon and he entered a plea of guilty without the formality of a trial.

LOST $24,000,000

By Being Born a Female of the Species.

Brussels, March 22.—Princess Clementine, wife of Prince Victor Napoleon, gave birth to a daughter Wednesday.

That the baby is a Princess is a tremendous blow to the hopes and plans of the Bonapartist party in France. Counting on a Prince, Bonapartist activity has been running at full tide. Princess Clementine maintained a veritable court here and there has been a constant coming and going between Brussels and Paris.

Had a son and heir arrived he would have had the largest campaign fund that ever paved a golden way for a pretender to a throne. Princess Clementine's fortune is estimated at $90,000,000, most of which her father, King Leopold, made in the Congo. The Empress Eugenie had promised to bequeath to a boy her fortune of $22,000,000 and in addition $1,000,000 more had been promised from Princess Matilda.

Notwithstanding all these inducements the stork landed with a girl.

J. B. Lyle and wife have filed suit against E. G. Peterson and the Kentucky Automobile Co. for $5,000.
